- Anyone can submit
- Applications will be evaluated by the Ministry of Energy, Mines and Low-Carbon Innovation (EMLI)

Applications

B.C.'s aggregate industry plays an important role in building an affordable and prosperous British Columbia. However, aggregate producers play a much larger part in our communities than purely providing the necessary resources for the construction of homes, public infrastructure, and roads.

Their contribution takes a variety of forms including volunteering labour and equipment for community projects and events and supporting local organizations.

The Deputy Minister's Community Service Award recognizes the outstanding contribution the aggregate industry provides to communities across the province.

The award will be presented at the BC Stone, Sand and Gravel Association Conference and Trade Show in March 2023.

Application Packages

Application packages must be submitted by Feb 10th, 2023 Applications must include:

- A completed application form
- A letter (two-page maximum) describing the contribution made by the company and the benefit to the community
- Supporting information such as citations, media releases, media coverage, links, photographs, support and thank you letters

Eligibility

Companies in the aggregates industry that have supplied at least one project in a BC community during the year are eligible for this award.

Applications can be submitted by aggregate producers, or anyone who would like to recognize the contribution of an aggregate producer to a community.

Applications can be submitted by:

- Aggregate Producers
- Community Members
- Members of the aggregate industry

Selection Criteria

The applications will be evaluated on qualitative assessments of two criteria:

- The benefits to the community
- The contribution made by producer
